MIZZOU MEDIA POLICIES

TRAINING CAMP – AUGUST 6-27

Most Mizzou Football fall camp practices (August 6-27) are open to media for a specified period of time (approximately the first 45 minutes), with practices taking place at either the Kadlec Athletic Fields, at Faurot Field, or inside the Devine Pavilion. Please check with the Media Relations Office for a location update. ALL PRACTICE TIMES LISTED ARE TENTATIVE AND SUBJECT TO CHANGE.

PRACTICE CONTENT

Content of what takes place during practice is not allowed to be reported on, whether in traditional forms of media, or on social media. This includes, but is not limited to: plays, formations, strategies, personnel moves, injuries, depth chart changes, etc. All injury information will come from Coach Pinkel or a designee.

TRAINING CAMP INTERVIEW POLICIES

Selected Mizzou coaches and student-athletes are available for interviews after each camp practice, with interviews being conducted on the field post-practice. Please see the tentative schedule which follows. Media will be escorted from practice after the initial open period, and can come back at a specified time once practice is over to conduct interviews.

TRAINING CAMP PHOTOGRAPHY POLICIES

All Mizzou Football camp practices are open for photography purposes for media outlets. The photography period is limited to approximately the first 45 minutes, however, and photographers/videographers will be escorted from practice after that period.

MIZZOU®

2015 SEASON PREVIEW

2015 MIZZOU FOOTBALL SEASON PREVIEW

When the Mizzou Football team takes to the field this fall, they'll do so as the two-time defending Southeastern Conference Eastern Division champions. The Tigers, largely undervalued each of the past two pre-seasons according to league prognosticators, will likely fly under the radar once again in 2015, despite their 2013 and 2014 Eastern Division crowns, a combined 14-2 SEC record and a 23-5 overall mark the past two seasons.

But Head Coach Gary Pinkel understands why, and really doesn't worry about those things.

"There's a respect factor, but we don't really talk about that too much," said Pinkel, who is Mizzou's all-time winningest football coach with 113 wins coming into 2015. "It does affect our players, there's no question about it, but we don't spend time talking about respect, we talk about playing well and finishing, and controlling what we can control.

"We talk about having a football team that it doesn't matter who you play or where you play, it's all about how we play. That's something really big that we focus on. We play in some of the great stadiums in college football, and certainly playing in The Zou is a blast, too. But at the end of the day, it's how the 11 guys on the field prepare and play. That's our emphasis," Pinkel said.

Given Pinkel's recent track record, and the talent assembled for 2015, those goals are certainly within reach. Mizzou returns a veteran offensive line to protect and pave the way for the winningest returning starting quarterback in the SEC in junior Maty Mauk (14-4 as a starter), and a 1,000-yard rusher in senior TB Russell Hansbrough (1,084 yards, 10 touchdowns in 2014).

On the defensive side, despite big changes that see a new defensive coordinator in Barry Odom and losing the top defensive end duo in the nation a year ago (Shane Ray and Markus Golden – both 2015 NFL draftees), Mizzou expects to be stout once again after making big strides there in 2014.

Senior PK Andrew Baggett returns as one of the top kickers in the SEC, but the rest of the special teams will face a transition, as they will need to replace record-setting return man Marcus Murphy (drafted by the New Orleans Saints) and punter Christian Brinser, a two-year starter lost to graduation.

OFFENSE

Mizzou leaned heavily on its ground game a year ago, and with the return of four starters on the offensive line, plus a 1,000-yard rusher, it's likely that Tiger fans will see more of the same this fall. But with proven veteran Maty Mauk back to direct the offense, don't overlook the passing game, even though only one wide receiver with more than one career start is back in the fold.

Overall, six starters are back on offense, but that figure doesn't even include senior TB Russell Hansbrough, who started four games a year ago and was Mizzou's leading rusher with 1,084 yards and 10 touchdowns.

QUARTERBACK

Signal caller gets most of the attention and Mizzou should get plenty this year with the many talents of junior QB Maty Mauk, who is the winningest returning quarterback in the SEC with his career record of 14-4 as a starter. Mauk will be in his third go-around as a starter and he's coming off a season where he threw for 2,648 yards and 25 touchdowns, while running for 373 yards and two scores.

Providing plenty of talented competition at the position will be sophomore Eddie Printz (three games in reserve in 2015), redshirt Marvin Zanders and senior Corbin Berkstresser (four starts in 2012). True freshman Drew Lock is also looking to show that he could merit consideration for snaps this fall.

The Tiger passing game wasn't as efficient in 2014 as it has been recently, and while Pinkel sees room for improvement, he's also confident it will do just that.

"Naturally everyone wants to get better, but keep in mind when you look at Maty, that he's won 14 out of 18 games as a starter," said Pinkel. "He's done a lot of good things, he's had a lot of good people around him. You're always looking for improvement, and with your quarterback, you're looking for more efficiency, better completion percentage, improved touchdown/interception ratio, those kind of things. He's certainly very capable of making a lot of big plays, we know that. We have some young receivers, we have a lot of work to do until our first game, but certainly I think we have an opportunity to be a good passing team," he said.

OFFENSIVE LINE

Despite losing All-SEC tackle Mitch Morse to the NFL (second-round draft pick by Kansas City), Mizzou looks to be in great shape up front as they look to pave and protect the way for another potent offensive attack. Back for his fourth year as a starter is senior C Evan Boehm, who has started all 40 games in his Tiger career. Boehm will be an honors candidate undoubtedly and is one of the top leaders on the team. He'll team with senior LT Connor McGovern (28 career starts) and senior LG Taylor Chappell (10 starts in 2014) to provide the nucleus for the line, while senior Mitch Hall at right guard (5 starts in 2014) and sophomore RT Nate Crawford hold down the other starting positions heading into fall camp.

Senior utility man Brad McNulty, who has 13 career starts under his belt at several different positions on the line, provides quality depth, and there will be several youngsters with a chance to work their way into the depth. Among those include sophomore RT Clay Rhodes, redshirt freshman RG Kevin Pendleton, redshirt freshman LG Andy Bauer, sophomore C Alec Abeln, redshirt freshman LT Paul Adams and junior college transfer LT Malik Cuellar.

TAILBACK

Mizzou lost starting TB Marcus Murphy – one of its most versatile threats in the Pinkel era – to graduation and the NFL, but back to carry the rock is powerful and speedy back Russell Hansbrough. Hansbrough will be a senior in 2015, and while he's technically not a returning starter (four starts in 2014), he's logged enough action to be considered just that for all intents and purposes. He has 347 career carries, for 1,883 career yards, and if he can muster another 1,000-yard season, he'd land in the Mizzou career top-five rushing leaders listing.

Tiger coaches like to split the workload of its tailbacks to keep the fresh and healthy, so finding the tandem option to complement Hansbrough will be one of the top orders of business in fall camp. The top candidate is sophomore Ish Witter, who played in 12 games last year as a true freshman, and showed big potential (27 carries, 101 yards, one touchdown). Junior Morgan Steward and senior Tyler Hunt are program veterans who hope to find the field for carries, and they'll be joined in fall camp by talented newcomers such as junior Chase Abbington and freshman Marquise Doherty. Redshirt freshman Trevon Walters had hoped to be in the mix this fall, but sustained a knee injury in spring camp which leaves his status for this fall unknown.

RECEIVERS

Wide receiver is arguably the position group with the most rebuilding in store for 2015. Gone from last season are the top four pass catchers, which puts a lot of attention on a young but athletic group that hopes to continue to improve in the fall after making strides in the spring.

Senior Wesley Leftwich is joined by sophomores Nate Brown and J'Mon Moore as the favorites to take over vacated starting spots this fall. Leftwich has 13 games of experience under his belt, and the Columbia, Mo., native caught three passes a year ago for 36 yards. Brown caught five passes in 2014 as a true freshman for 45 yards (nine games played), while Moore played in 12 games a year ago and caught two passes for 33 yards. Entering fall camp, redshirt freshman DeSean Blair is even on the depth chart with Moore at the X-receiver spot, after an impressive spring camp where he won the team's Most Improved Receiver award.

Other youngsters will look to add to the depth, including redshirt freshmen Keyon Dilosa, Thomas Richard and former defensive back Raymond Wingo, who moved over to receiver during spring camp and showed quickly he could be a factor there this season. Juniors Eric Laurent and Jake Brents also give the receiving corps a pair of talented and trusty program veterans who could contribute.

"We have a lot of young receivers, we've lost 12 guys in the last two or three years there, so it's a little bit of a transition," said Pinkel. "We were a little bit out of sync during the spring there, and we anticipated that. The good news is I think we have players who are good athletes, and we've got all of August, but come September 1, we don't talk about experience or inexperience, it doesn't matter, because bottom-line, you have to go out there and play," he said.

TIGHT END

Tight end became a bigger focus of the Tiger passing attack in 2014, and everyone is back for another year, led by junior Sean Culkin. Culkin had 20 receptions in 14 games for 174 yards and one touchdown, and he's the favorite to be the starter again. But he'll be pushed by talented sophomore Jason Reese, who played in 13 games last season and caught one pass for 12 yards. Reese had a good spring camp and was named the team's Most Improved Tight End for his efforts.

DEFENSE

Despite some significant losses from a defense which was among the best in the SEC in 2014, Mizzou coaches enter the upcoming season with expectations of not losing a step. Brand new defensive coordinator Barry Odom takes over after spending the last three seasons at Memphis in the same capacity, as he returns to Mizzou to fill the shoes of Dave Steckel, now head coach at Missouri State.

Odom brings a fiery intensity to the sideline, much like Steckel, and he'll likely make some tweaks to a system that has been very impactful and a huge part of Mizzou's success of late. The Tiger defense was top-25 nationally in 2014 in total defense (23rd – 346.4 avg.) and points allowed (19th – 21.1 avg.), while ranking high in the "havoc" stat categories of quarterback sacks (9th – 3.14 avg.) and tackles for loss (10th – 7.5 avg.).

Gone from that defense are a pair of rush ends in Shane Ray and Markus Golden who accounted for a large amount of those production totals, and they're now in the NFL doing the same. Finding a way to replace their production will be key to the defense's success in 2015. The good news is that the cupboard isn't exactly bare for Odom and his coaching staff, as the Tigers return six starters from a year ago, including the two of the three leading returning tacklers in the SEC, in linebackers Kentrell Brothers and Michael Scherer. Five others with some starting experience are also back in the mix, giving Odom a nice mix of experienced talent to work with, in addition to some potential impact newcomers.

DEFENSIVE LINE

Mizzou has established quite the reputation nationally for the talent it develops and produces on the defensive line, affectionately known as #DLineZou. Ray and Golden were taken in the 1st and 2nd round of the 2015 NFL Draft, respectively, and that makes six Mizzou defensive lineman who have been drafted in the last five years (2011-15), including five of those in the first two rounds (three first-rounders).

On paper, Mizzou will be rebuilding a bit in the trenches, as they have only one starter back, in junior DT Harold Brantley. But he's definitely a big block around which a foundation can be built, according to Coach Pinkel.

"We're a little less experienced, but we have a chance to produce some impact players, some difference makers. Harold Brantley is a guy who is very much like Sheldon Richardson who plays for the Jets now, a similar-type of competitive athlete. I really think he has potential to be a high, high-level player. He played really well for us a year ago, but he's a guy who has a chance to be an impact player," Pinkel said.

Sophomore DE Charles Harris hopes to be the next great Mizzou rush end, and while he'll certainly have big shoes to fill, program insiders believe he's ready to make a big impact. Redshirt freshman Walter Brady is atop the depth chart at the opposite end position heading into camp, and junior NG Rickey Hatley is penciled in as the other inside starter alongside Brantley. A handful of very talented youngsters also has coaches excited about the possibilities here, including junior NG Josh Augusta, sophomore DT A.J. Logan, and redshirt freshmen ends Rocel McWilliams and Spencer Williams. Additionally, Mizzou landed the nation's number-one defensive tackle recruit this past February in Terry Beckner, and while he won't be rushed into the mix, he'll be expected to challenge for playing time early on.

"Charles Harris has done a great job, he played a lot last year, we've got a young player in Walter Brady who's competing outside and some others who can help depth-wise there," said Pinkel. We've also got Josh Augusta and Rickey Hatley we're excited about. On all parts of our defense, we have everybody with a significant amount of experience, and I think it starts with the defensive line," he said.

LINEBACKERS

The play of Mizzou's linebackers a year ago was a big factor in the success of its defense, and in 2015 things look pretty stout in the middle of the field, as senior LB Kentrell Brothers and junior LB Michael Scherer return to the fold. Last season, both hard-hitters enjoyed breakout seasons, as Brothers ranked second in the SEC with 117 tackles, while Scherer ranked fifth with 107.

They'll certainly be expected to deliver the goods once again, and they'll be joined on the field by a cast of teammates with a good combination of experience and talent. Junior Donavin Newsom started three games in 2014 and made solid contributions, while senior Clarence Green also started twice and is poised to be a big factor in his final year as a Tiger. A handful of others will be looked to for depth and production in 2015, including sophomores Joey Burkett and Eric Beisel, as well as redshirt freshmen Brandon Lee, Roderick Winters and Grant Jones.

"Our line backing corps, we can run, all three of the guys have played inside, so I really think there's a lot of positives," said Pinkel. "I think the other key is getting our backup players ready to play, in case of injury," he said.

SECONDARY

Three of four starters return to patrol the secondary, including senior FS Ian Simon, senior CB Kenya Dennis and junior CB Aarion Penton. The favorite to take over the strong safety spot vacated by all-SEC performer Braylon Webb is sophomore Anthony Sherrils, who played in all 14 games a year ago and who is arguably one of the best pound-for-pound athletes on the team. Adding to the competition here are a pair of veterans with starting experience in senior SS Cortland Browning (one career start) and junior CB John Gibson (five career starts). At cornerback, senior David Johnson and sophomore Logan Cheadle both have game experience under their belts and are expected to challenge for playing time, while redshirt freshman Finish Stribling IV is looking to contribute as well.

True sophomore FS Thomas Wilson was impressive in 13 games of action a year ago as he learned the system, and he'll be a likely contributor at a higher level in 2015, while redshirt freshman FS Tavon Ross is hopeful of overcoming a knee injury sustained in spring ball in time to see the field this fall.

"Obviously the more pressure you put on the quarterback it certainly helps, but I think we'll probably be more athletic in the backfield than we've been in the past," Pinkel said. "Anthony Sherrils is a real good young safety, Ian Simon has played an awful lot the last three years, and we've got other guys competing in there. Kenya Dennis and Aarion Penton are a couple of really talented players who did some good things last year, so we're excited about the potential here. Ultimately, you have to go in there and produce at a high level," he said.

SPECIALISTS

The all-important kicking game looks to be in good shape this fall at Mizzou, as senior PK Andrew Baggett returns, along with his strong right leg. Baggett is one of the top kickers in the SEC, and has made 18 field goals in each of the last two seasons, including a pair of 50-yarders in the SEC East-clinching win last November over Arkansas – making him the first Mizzou kicker to ever boot a pair of 50 yarders in a game.

The punting duties are wide open in 2015, as two-year starter Christian Brinser has graduated, and that puts the spotlight on true freshman Corey Fatony, who signed as part of Mizzou's 2015 recruiting class in February. Fatony enters fall camp listed atop the depth chart there, but he'll be pushed by others looking to win the punting job.

SCHEDULE

The Tigers have six home games currently finalized for the 2015 campaign at Faurot Field/Memorial Stadium, including a Thursday-night prime time game on Nov. 5th against Mississippi State set for an 8 p.m. (central time) kickoff on ESPN. The Bulldogs, ranked #1 in the nation for the current season, will be making their first trip to Columbia since 1984, when Mizzou claimed a 47-30 win.

Other home games in 2015 include contests against Southeast Missouri State (Sept. 5), UCONN (Sept. 19), South Carolina (Oct. 3), Florida (Oct. 10) and Tennessee (Nov. 21).

Road contests are set against Arkansas State (Sept. 12), Kentucky (Sept. 26), Georgia (Oct. 17), Vanderbilt (Oct. 24) and Arkansas (Nov. 28).

A 12th game will be played at Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City, Mo., which is the home of the NFL's Kansas City Chiefs. The Tigers will host BYU in a neutral site tilt.

The Thursday night game will be a unique mid-week nationally-televised opportunity as the Tigers will take on the Bulldogs. It will be the third time Mizzou has hosted a Thursday-night game, with prior instances coming in 1992 (vs. Colorado) and 2009 (vs. Nebraska). It will be one of three Thursday night games played by SEC teams in 2015 (the league has five Thursday night games in 2014).

"We are excited to have this schedule almost completed. It's been a long time in the works, but we're pleased and grateful to everyone who has helped it come together to this point," said Executive Associate Athletic Director Bryan Maggard, who oversees football scheduling.

"The Thursday night home game is certainly unique, and it's a great opportunity to showcase Mizzou to a national audience," said Maggard. "The SEC asked both schools to consider it, and after we visited with campus and faculty leaders, we decided to go that route. We will consider future Thursday opportunities if asked by the league, but only occasionally," he said.

MIZZOU®

THE COACHES

Gary Pinkel

Head Coach
15th Year at Mizzou
Akron, Ohio
Kent State, 1973

In 14 years at the University of Missouri, Gary Pinkel has meticulously built a previously downtrodden program into one of the most successful in the nation, and after a thrilling 2013 season, he very well might have performed the best coaching job of his career in 2014.

Picked to finish a distant fourth in the SEC Eastern Division in the preseason, Pinkel guided his troops to an 11-3 record and a second-straight division championship and subsequent bowl game victory.

The Tigers ended the magical 2014 season with a New Year's Day 33-17 win over Minnesota in the Buffalo Wild Wings Citrus Bowl, giving the Tigers 23 wins in two seasons - a school record.

The job Pinkel did during the year went recognized by his coaching peers, as he was voted the SEC Coach of the Year by league coaches.

The well-deserved honor capped a season that saw the Tigers rebound from a pair of tough losses early in the year and close the regular season with six straight wins - including four games in which they entered as underdogs - to claim the East crown.

Under his watch, Mizzou has now won conference division titles five of the last eight seasons (2007, 2008, 2010, 2013, 2014), which is tied for most in the nation during that stretch (along with Alabama and Florida State), while the Tigers' 76 wins in that time is tied for 5th-best among FBS "power 5" conferences.

The winningest head coach in both Mizzou and Toledo histories (making him one of only two active coaches to make that claim at the FBS level - Steve Spurrier being the other), Pinkel enters the 2015 season with a Mizzou record of 113-66 in 14 seasons, while he's 186-103-3 overall in 24 seasons. His 186 wins is the 6th-most among active FBS coaches.

Pinkel got his MU record-breaking win thanks to a thrilling 41-31 win over Oklahoma State in the 2014 AT&T Cotton Bowl Classic. The win was the 102nd at MU in his 13 years patrolling the sidelines, and that broke a tie he held going into the game with Tiger legend Don Faurot, who won 101 games in 19 seasons from 1935-42 and 1946-56.

That victory also put the cap on a storybook season which saw Mizzou storm to a 12-2 record and a Southeastern Conference Eastern Division championship.

Tiger supporters are proud to tout this amazing fact: Since 2007, Mizzou is the only program in the nation to rank in the top-5 among BCS-AQ leagues in wins, while also ranking in the top-10 in success, as well as in the top-5 in most NFL first-round draft picks.

The 2013 season will go down in the record books as one of the best seasons in Mizzou Football history, thanks to an oustanding job turned in by Pinkel and his staff. Mizzou began the season with little outside fanfare, and in fact was picked to finish 6th in the SEC East. All they did was burst to a 7-0 start, rise to as high as fifth in the rankings, win the East Division outright with a 7-1 SEC record, and reach the SEC Championship Game in only the program's second year in the nation's premier football league.

Even with the Championship Game defeat to Auburn, the Tigers turned heads nationally with their 12-2 record and final ranking of 5th in the season-ending polls (the 2nd-highest in school history). For his efforts, Pinkel received numerous national accolades, including being named a finalist for both the Eddie Robinson and Walter Camp Football Foundation national coach of the year honors. He was also named the AFCA Region 2 Coach of the Year.

Pinkel's leadership played a crucial role in the University of Missouri being in position to join the vaunted Southeastern Conference in November of 2011.

His vision for the future was stamped for approval in June of 2012, when the Missouri Board of Curators okayed a $200-million construction project master plan – the majority of which will go to improving and expanding football facilities.

Mizzou's first year in the SEC certainly didn't go as planned in 2012, as the Tigers faced what was ranked as the nation's toughest schedule (Sagarin). Injuries which decimated the usually-potent Tiger offense took their toll and factored heavily into MU's 5-7 season.

Mizzou played in a school-record seventh-straight bowl game in 2011, and ended with an 8-5 record after a dominating 41-24 win over North Carolina in the Independence Bowl. The final record was impressive considering it came in a year in which the Tigers were challenged with key injuries while facing a schedule that was ranked as the seventh-toughest in the nation (Sagarin). Pinkel led his team to wins over three bowl teams in the regular season (Texas, Texas A&M, Iowa State), while all five of MU's losses came at the hands of bowl-bound opponents.

A testament to the consistency that Pinkel and his staff have developed at Mizzou is the fact that MU was one of only six schools in BCS-AQ conferences to have posted at least eight wins each season from 2006-11. The others in that very select group included: LSU, Oklahoma, USC, Virginia Tech and West Virginia.

In 2010, Mizzou posted its third 10-win season in four years under Pinkel, as MU went 10-3 overall, including a 6-2 mark in Big 12 Conference play that earned them a spot atop the North Division rankings for the third time since 2007. Included among those 10 wins was a watershed moment for the program, and for Tiger Nation overall – a 36-27 win over top-ranked Oklahoma on Homecoming, which marked the first-ever win by Mizzou over a #1-ranked team.

A sign of growing respect for the work that Pinkel and his staff has done to build the program came along with that win over Oklahoma. That week, Mizzou was the focal point of the entire college football universe, as ESPN sent its wildly popular traveling show, "ESPN GameDay," to the MU campus. A record crowd of an estimated 18,000 Tiger fans packed the picturesque Francis Quadrangle for the Saturday morning show, and made everyone associated with the school glow with pride. A national audience watched the GameDay program, and then the nation promptly watched the Tigers pull away in the fourth quarter against the Sooners to move to 7-0 on a season for only the third time in school history.

Pinkel is in a select group of MU coaches that includes College Football Hall of Famers Don Faurot and Dan Devine, as well as Warren Poweres, as the only coaches to have an MU record above .500 dating back to 1935.

Pinkel has guided Mizzou to 10 bowl games, surpassing the previous MU record of six previously held by Dan Devine. With wins in the 2008 AT&T Cotton Bowl (38-7 over Arkansas) and in the 2008 Valero Alamo Bowl (30-23 over Northwestern), Pinkel became the first coach to lead the Tigers to bowl victories in consecutive seasons since Powers did the trick in 1981 and 1982.

Over the past 12 seasons, Pinkel has led Missouri to a 103-52 record (66.5%) and to bowl games in 2003, 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2011, 2013 and 2014. Dating back to the 2005 Independence Bowl, Pinkel has won 84 of his last 120 games overall (70.0%). He is the first coach in school history to earn seven straight bowl berths.

His success has led to an increased commitment to the Tiger Football program from the University, as Pinkel was awarded with a contract extension in March of 2014 that will keep him on the Tiger sidelines through the 2020 season. With 10 winning seasons, Pinkel has directed MU to 10 of the 12 winning campaigns the school has had overall since the 1983 season.

With a school-record 12 wins in 2007 and 10 more in 2008, MU's two-year win total of 22 was third-most in the nation during that stretch, trailing only USC (23) and Oklahoma (23). The back-to-back 10-win seasons marked the first such occurrence in Mizzou history, and Pinkel has now directed five of the six double-digit win seasons in school annals.

In 2007, Pinkel guided Mizzou to arguably the greatest season in school history. Among the myriad achievements that year included a school-record 12 wins, claiming MU's first New Year's Day bowl victory since 1966, winning the program's first-ever Big 12 North Division crown, and earning a No. 1 Associated Press national ranking for the first time since 1960 and coming up one win shy of playing for the national championship.

To simply list the highlights surrounding Pinkel's renaissance in Columbia would not do his body of work justice. It has all been the culmination of hard work and determination that began after his hiring on Nov. 30, 2000.

In achieving the program's first No. 1 national ranking since 1960, Missouri raced to a 5-0 start in 2007, including wins over a Rose Bowl bound Illinois team and perennial nemesis Nebraska. The Tigers averaged nearly 42 points per game in those five wins and only a late flurry of points by the Fighting Illini kept any of those games in doubt.

For his outstanding achievements both on and off the field in 2007, Pinkel was a finalist for several national coach of the year awards, including the Robinson, Bryant and Munger awards. He also was named the National Coach of the Year by FieldTurf in 2007.

In winning a school-record 12 games in 2007, Mizzou clearly caught the attention of the national football community, as the Tigers began the season unranked but quickly darted up the charts with wins over bowl teams such as Illinois, Texas Tech and Colorado. And after the Tigers defeated arch rival and 2nd-ranked Kansas on Nov. 24th, Mizzou stood atop the college football world, ranked number one for the first and only time since 1960.

After taking over a program that had fallen on hard times in 2001, Pinkel had increased success in each of his first three seasons, improving from four wins in 2001 to five wins in 2002, to the 2003 squad which went 8-5 and made the school's third bowl appearance since 1983.

Long considered a "sleeping giant" of a program, Mizzou had a breakthrough 2003 season under Pinkel's guidance.

The eight regular-season wins marked the first time since 1980 - and only the 4th time since 1960 - that MU had amassed that many wins in the regular season. The team became only the 9th in MU's history to accomplish the feat.

Mizzou's 41-24 win over #10 Nebraska on Oct. 11th was one for the history books, as it broke a 24-game losing streak to the Huskers for MU, making Pinkel the first Tiger coach to beat Nebraska since Warren Powers in 1978.

The Nebraska win also marked MU's first win over a top-10 opponent since 1981, breaking a string of 45 straight losses to top-10 foes for the school.

The 31st head coach in the program's history, Pinkel was hired on Nov. 30, 2000, and began immediately to prove to his colleagues, alumni, fans and student-athletes that Tiger Football could be a national player.

After a rebuilding year in 2001, Pinkel had Mizzou much improved in his 2nd campaign -- and playing for bowl eligibility entering the Tigers' final game of the season.

Pinkel opened the 2002 campaign by leading MU to one of the program's most impressive season-opening wins in recent history when Mizzou dismantled Illinois -- the defending Big Ten champions and a 2001 BCS Bowl team -- 33-20 in St. Louis, Mo. He later defeated Mizzou's rival, the Kansas Jayhawks, as MU downed Kansas 36-12 to give him a 2-0 record vs. KU -- making him only the third coach in school history to win his first two encounters against Kansas.

Pinkel came to Missouri after spending 10 very successful years as head coach at Toledo, where he amassed an impressive 73-37-3 record (65.9%) and left as UT's alltime winningest coach.

For his accomplishments at Toledo, Pinkel was inducted into the school's athletic hall of fame in February of 2009.

Prior to becoming a head coach, Pinkel learned the trade from one of the alltime great coaches, the legendary Don James. For 12 years as an assistant under James at Washington (1979-90), Pinkel helped guide the Huskies to a combined record of 104-37-2 (73.4%) and three Pac-10 Conference titles. He served as UW's offensive coordinator for seven seasons (1984-90), and helped mold one of the nation's most potent offensive attacks.

Pinkel played under James at Kent State University, where he was an all-conference and honorable mention All-American tight end. He graduated in 1973.

Pinkel received his bachelor of science degree in education from Kent in 1973. He did post-graduate studies at Kent and Bowling Green, and in 1997 was inducted into the Kent Athletic Hall of Fame.

Andy Hill

Assoc. Head Coach/Quarterbacks
20th Year at Mizzou
Trenton, Mo.
Missouri, 1985

Andy Hill has coached 14 seasons under Gary Pinkel and 19 seasons overall at the University of Missouri, making him the longest tenured coach on the Tiger football staff. In fact, only two other assistant coaches in MU football history have enjoyed longer tenures at Mizzou: Clay Cooper (29 seasons) and Chauncey Simpson (21).

In his second season as quarterbacks coach, Hill oversaw the development in 2014 of first-year starter Maty Mauk, as he learned the ropes of life in the SEC. Mauk helped guide the Tigers to an 11-3 record and an Eastern Division championship, despite losing some 73% of Mizzou's receiving production from 2013. Mauk still turned in solid numbers, throwing for 2,648 yards with a 25-to-13 touchdown-to-interception ratio. His stellar play in the 4th quarter of games down the stretch was a key to Mizzou's six-game win streak that ultimately clinched the division title.

The 2013 season marked an exciting shift in duties for Hill, as the Mizzou grad took over quarterback responsibilities, after working with Tiger receivers since he joined the staff in 1996. He was also awarded in December of 2012 with a promotion to Associate Head Coach.

Hill's work with the Tiger signal callers was outstanding in 2013, as he helped guide senior James Franklin and redshirt freshman Maty Mauk to stellar play which keyed MU's run to the SEC Eastern Division championship.

Franklin was one of the top producers in the country as he averaged just under 300 yards of total offense in his 10 starts which saw him post a 9-1 record. Mauk took over the reins for a crucial four-game stretch in the heart of SEC play when Franklin went out with a shoulder injury sustained in a win at 7th-ranked Georgia in October. Despite his inexperience, Mauk helped navigate Florida, South Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky to the tune of a 3-1 record in those starts. Mauk earned SEC All-Freshman honors for his inaugural season, which included an 11-to-2 TD-to-INT ratio.

Regarded as one of the top recruiters in the country, Hill also has a long-standing track record of coaching success at Mizzou, as he helped develop three 1st-Team All-Americans in a span from 2007-2010 -- WR Jeremy Maclin, WR Danario Alexander and TE Michael Egnew.

Seven of Hill's receivers caught double-digit passes in 2012, and they were led by junior wideout Marcus Lucas, who had a team-high 46 catches for 509 yards, while adding three touchdowns. Freshman WR Dorial Green-Beckham showed flashes of why he was considered one of the top recruits in the entire nation in 2012, as he ended with 28 receptions for 395 yards and a team-best five TDs.

Hill coached several of the most prolific pass catchers in the nation, as well as in Mizzou history. In 2010, junior TE Michael Egnew emerged as the nation's most productive receiving tight end, as he won consensus 1st-Team All-American honors, and was a Mackey Award finalist, for a year that saw him catch 90 passes for 762 yards and five touchdowns. That was an astounding progression for Egnew, who caught a combined seven passes in his first two years as a Tiger. Another great story in 2010 was the development of sophomore WR T.J. Moe into one of the nation's most prolific receivers as well. Moe burst onto the scene by catching 92 passes for 1,045 yards and six touchdowns, a year after he caught two passes as a true freshman in 2009. Moe's play won him 2nd-Team All-Big 12 honors.

Danario Alexander's 2009 season saw him lead the NCAA in receiving (137.0 yards per game), as he shattered school records for receptions (113), receiving yards (1,781) and receiving touchdowns (14). Alexander twice won Big 12 Offensive Player of the Week honors during his incredible 2009 season – making him the first receiver in the talent-rich tradition of the Big 12 Conference to win the honor twice in the same season. Alexander won 1st-Team All-American honors for his efforts in 2009, and he ended his career holding the MU career record for receiving yards (2,778).

The 2009 season saw senior punter Jake Harry IV turn in an outstanding season which included honorable mention All-Big 12 honors. Harry ranked 29th nationally in punting average (42.77), and he helped Mizzou rank 4th in the country in team net punting (40.48) – the highest MU has ever finished in the national standings in the category.

The 2008 season saw Hill work to develop sophomore Jeremy Maclin into arguably the most dynamic player in the nation. Maclin set an MU single-season record with 102 catches, 1,260 yards and 13 touchdowns receiving, and he also led the NCAA in all-purpose yardage, with his per-game average of 202.4 yards. The game-changer won consensus 1st-Team All-American honors for his play, as well as being named a finalist for the Biletnikoff Award, given annually to the nation's top receiver. Maclin chose to bypass his final two years of eligibility at Mizzou, and was taken with the 19th overall selection in the 2009 NFL Draft by the Philadelphia Eagles.

Hill's group produced in record numbers during the Tigers' 10-4 season in 2008. As a team, Mizzou's passing attack shattered school records for receptions (404), receiving yards (4,625) and receiving touchdowns (41). Mizzou's passing attack ranked 4th in the NCAA in 2008, with a per-game average of 330.36 yards. In addition to Maclin's many exploits, another pupil of Hill's had a strong close to his Tiger career. Former walk-on Tommy Saunders developed into one of the Big 12's most underrated receiving threats, as he caught 72 passes for 833 yards and seven scores in 2008, and he ended his career ranked among MU's top-10 in both receptions and yardage.

Thanks in no small part to Hill's work with the receivers, Mizzou's offense set myriad records in 2007, as the passing attack ranked 9th in the NCAA, averaging 314.07 yards per game. Two of his pupils, senior Will Franklin and freshman Jeremy Maclin, earned all-league honors for their outstanding play in 2007, including Maclin, who was a consensus 1st-Team All-American for his exploits as both a receiver and return man, in addition to being named 1st-Team All-Big 12 and Big 12 Offensive Freshman of the Year.

Under Hill's tutelage in 2006, the Tiger receiving corps was instrumental in helping Mizzou develop into a passing attack that ranked 10th in the country, averaging 276.15 yards per game. Four Tiger wideouts had 25 or more catches, including Franklin (48), Perry (37), Brad Ekwerekwu (32) and Tommy Saunders (25). Franklin earned honorable mention All-Big 12 status for his breakout year. Perry, a true freshman, developed quicker than anticipated, as Hill coached him to honorable mention freshman All-American honors.

Hill also doubles as a highly-successful recruiter, primarily in the Kansas City and mid-Missouri areas. He was named by Rivals.com as one of the top-10 recruiters in the Big 12 Conference for 2007.

Hill helped develop Gage into one of the top receivers in the Big 12 Conference and one of the premier wide outs in the country. After converting from quarterback in the spring of 2000, Gage caught 200 passes for 2,704 yards and 18 touchdowns in three seasons – all MU career receiving records. Gage left after 2002 holding virtually every game, season and career receiving mark on the Mizzou books, and made an impact professionally, where he was the Tennessee Titans' leading receiver in 2007 and 2008.

Five of Hill's receivers are among 13 Tigers all-time to accumulate over 160 receiving yards in a single-game, with Gage holding the school record of 236 yards (accomplished twice). Missouri has had 16 different receivers go over 100 yards in a single game during Hill's tenure.

Previous to Missouri, Hill was the head football coach at Hutchinson (Kan.) Junior College. Hutchinson went 18-6 under Hill, including a 10-2 record in 1995 when it won its first Conference title since 1969 and ranked ninth in the final NJCAA national poll. He was named the conference Coach of the Year. Hill was the offensive coordinator at Hutchinson in 1992 and 1993 after serving as a graduate assistant at SMU in the spring of 1992.

Hill is a Mizzou grad who walked on the Tiger football team in 1980 and eventually earned a scholarship. He lettered in 1980, '81, '83 and '84 and played on Missouri teams that earned trips to the Liberty, Tangerine and Holiday Bowls. In his career, Hill caught 51 passes for 946 yards and scored seven touchdowns. As a senior, he caught 25 passes for 445 yards and three scores. Following his playing days at Missouri, he spent time in the training camps of the Kansas City Chiefs and Calgary Stampeders in 1985 and '86.

Andy and his wife Sarah are the parents of a daughter, Patricia Ryan, and son Andrew. He earned his Bachelor of Arts degree in economics from MU in 1985.

Josh Henson

Off. Coord./Tight Ends/Off. Line
Seventh Year at Mizzou
Tuttle, Okla.
Oklahoma State, 1998

Josh Henson joined the University of Missouri football coaching staff in February of 2009 as the first new hire to join Gary Pinkel's staff since he came to Mizzou in 2001. Henson came aboard as co-offensive line coach, and after four seasons in that role, he was promoted to offensive coordinator in December of 2012.

That decision to promote internally by Pinkel paid off handsomely in 2013, as Henson oversaw an offense which was undoubtedly one of the most improved in the nation, and which played a critical role in Mizzou's 12-2 championship season.

Henson made subtle tweaks to Mizzou's spread offense after taking over the reins, and it led to the Tigers posting one of the most balanced and potent attacks in the country. Just a few of MU's national ranks in various categories included: 13th in scoring (after ranking 80th in 2012) at 39.1 points per game, 16th in total offense (96th in 2012) at just under 500 yards per game, 16th in rushing (88th in 2012) and 34th in passing efficiency, a year after ranking just 103rd nationally in that category.

The Tiger offensive line made huge strides in 2013, and that certainly was a key to Mizzou's success. Senior LT Justin Britt won 1st-Team All-SEC honors by the Associated Press, becoming the first MU tackle to win A.P. first-team conference honors since Rob Droege in 2003. Senior LG Max Copeland became a finalist for the Burlsworth Trophy, given annually to the nation's top player who began his career as a walk-on. Britt went on to become the highest drafted offensive lineman of the Pinkel era, going in the second round of the 2014 NFL Draft to the Seattle Seahawks with the 64th overall pick.

The 2014 season brought a new challenge, as Henson lost some 60% of his offensive production from the previous year. His young squad experienced ups and downs early on before finding their footing to help key MU's six-game win streak to close the regular season and clinch the SEC Eastern Division title for the second-straight year.

Henson has had eight of his linemen at Mizzou earn all-conference honors 11 times in his tenure, including true freshman guard Evan Boehm, who was named a 1st-Team Freshman All-American by College Football News in 2012. Boehm moved to center for 2013, and despite that being the first time he'd played the position at length, he did a masterful job of leading the front five. Senior LT Mitch Morse was named 2nd-Team All-SEC by the league's coaches for his play in 2014.

A former standout offensive lineman at Oklahoma State, Henson spent four years as tight ends coach and recruiting coordinator at Louisiana State University, where he developed the reputation as being a tremendous on-field teacher of the game, while also leading the charge for LSU's recruiting classes which ranked among the top 10 in the nation four times - including a 2009 class which ranked as No. 2 in the nation according to Rivals.com.

Henson has provided a measurable impact for the Tiger football program, both on and off the field. In 2011, the Tiger offensive line – despite the pre-season loss of All-Big 12 left tackle Elvis Fisher to a season-ending injury – developed into a stout unit that paved the way for a Big 12 team rushing title that year. The Tigers ranked 9th nationally, and led the Big 12 in rushing (244.00 avg.) and also ranked 12th nationally in total offense (475.54 avg.), despite featuring a first-year starter at quarterback.

In 2009, he helped coach a trio of Tiger offensive linemen – senior Kurtis Gregory (2nd-Team), and sophomores Elvis Fisher (Hon. Men.) and Dan Hoch (Hon. Men.) to All-Big 12 honors. The offensive line helped protect first-year starting quarterback Blaine Gabbert well enough so that MU ranked 14th in the nation in passing, while allowing only 20 sacks in 13 games and 467 passing attempts.

It was more of the same in 2010, as the offensive line was a key element to Mizzou's 10-win season (only the fourth double-digit win season in school history), as four of Henson's five starters won some level of all-conference honors. Senior center Tim Barnes established himself as one of the top centers in the nation, and he took home 1st-Team All-Big 12 honors for his outstanding play. Also earning all-conference acclaim were juniors Dan Hoch (2nd-Team), Elvis Fisher (Hon. Men.) and Austin Wuebbels (Hon. Men.).

In the recruiting battles, Henson quickly helped MU establish ties to areas in which it had little success in recent years, and his efforts helped the Tiger 2010 class to a No. 21 national ranking by Rivals.com – marking the highest ranking ever for an MU recruiting class.

Prior to Mizzou, Henson spent 10 years as a player and coach at Oklahoma State, prior to his successful stint as tight ends coach and recruiting coordinator at LSU. He replaced former Tiger coach Dave Christensen, who was the first assistant to leave Pinkel's staff since coming to MU in 2001. Christensen was named the head coach at Wyoming in December of 2008.

In 2007, Henson's coaching efforts helped LSU sophomore tight end Richard Dickson put together one of the most productive seasons at the position in school history. Dickson turned in the third-highest single-season reception total by a Tiger tight end in school history, and he capped the 2007 season by catching a pair of touchdown passes in LSU's 38-24 win over Ohio State in the 2008 BCS National Championship Game.

The Tiger tight ends played a key role as LSU's offense set a total of 10 school records in 2007, including points in a season and total yards in a season. Following the 2007 season, LSU tight end Keith Zinger was selected in the seventh round of the NFL Draft by the Atlanta Falcons.

As LSU's recruiting coordinator, Henson's abilities made an immediate impact on the Tiger roster as LSU had the nation's No. 2-ranked signing class in 2007 after a consensus top 6 national rating in 2006. For his efforts, Henson was ranked as one of college football's top 25 recruiters in 2006 and 2007 by Rivals.com.

At Oklahoma State, Henson was instrumental in the development of Billy Bajema, who was a three-year starter for the Cowboys. As a senior in 2004, Bajema was one of the top tight ends in the country, earning first-team All-Big 12 honors. Bajema was picked in the seventh round of the 2004 NFL Draft by the San Francisco 49ers.

Henson also played a vital role in OSU's offensive development as the Cowboys ranked among the top 15 scoring teams in the nation for three consecutive years. The Cowboys averaged over 34 points per game from 2002-04, which included 35.9 points per game in 2003 and 34.5 points a game in 2004.

As Oklahoma State's recruiting coordinator, Henson played a key role in OSU's 2003 signing class being ranked No. 15 in the nation by Rivals.com. A year earlier, Rivals.com rated the Cowboy class as the 26th-best in the country.

As a player, Henson was a four-year letterwinner with 40 career starts for Oklahoma State from 1993-97. He was a starter on the offensive line as well as team captain for Oklahoma State's 8-4 team in 1997, a squad that played in the Alamo Bowl against Purdue. He was a second-team All-Big 12 selection as a senior, in addition to being an honorable mention All-Big 12 pick as a junior. Off the field, Henson was named the recipient of the L.L. Boger Award as a senior, an honor that recognizes a student-athlete's achievement both on the field and in the classroom.

Henson graduated from Oklahoma State with a bachelor's degree in secondary education in 1998. Upon graduation, he went straight into coaching, serving as a high school football coach in Kingfisher, Okla. In one season at Kingfisher, he helped guide the Yellowjackets to the state semifinals.

Henson returned to Oklahoma State as a graduate assistant in July of 1999, spending one year with the Cowboy offensive line before taking a full-time position with OSU as tight ends coach in 2001.

Henson is a native of Tuttle, Okla. He and his wife Shauna have a 10-year old son, Will, and a 6-year old daughter, Kate. Henson lists golf, fishing and hunting as his hobbies in his spare time.

Barry Odom

Defensive Coordinator/LBs
10th Year at Mizzou
Maysville, Okla.
Missouri, 1999

University of Missouri Head Coach Gary Pinkel has tabbed former Mizzou player and coach Barry Odom to become his next defensive coordinator and linebackers coach, as announced Dec. 23rd, 2014.

Odom will be in his first year as Pinkel's defensive coordinator, but he's certainly no stranger to the program, as the 2015 season will mark his second tour of duty, and the 10th as a member of the staff.

Odom, 38, joined back up with Mizzou after three years at Memphis, as he takes over for Dave Steckel, who left to become head coach at Missouri State following the conclusion of Mizzou's 2014 season.

Odom had been defensive coordinator and safeties coach at Memphis for the past three seasons, where he orchestrated an impressive body of work by the Tiger defense. Memphis concluded a 10-3 season in 2014 that was fueled largely by Odom's defense which ranked fifth nationally in scoring defense (17.1 ppg) and 22nd in total defense (343.3 ypg) heading into bowl season.

That marked an astounding incremental improvement, as Memphis ranked 117th nationally in total defense in 2011 prior to Odom assuming the reins. In 2012, Odom's first year, the Tiger defense improved to 50th nationally in total defense (383.6 ypg), followed by a jump to 39th in 2013 (370.7 ypg). Memphis earned a share of the 2014 American Athletic Conference title, giving them a conference championship for the first time since 1971.

It's a homecoming for Odom as he returns to his alma mater, where he starred as a linebacker for Mizzou from 1996-99 and later returned for a nine-year stint (2003-11) in a variety of roles for Pinkel's staff. He first came back in 2003 as an administrative graduate assistant, and after one year in that role, Odom moved to director of recruiting for the 2004 and 2005 seasons and then served three years (2006-08) as director of football operations.

In 2009, Odom moved to the coaching side of the ledger, as Pinkel's safeties coach for three seasons where he developed Kenji Jackson, Jarrell Harrison and Jasper Simmons into All-Big 12 performers for Tiger teams which won 26 games in those three years. Odom also played a significant role in recruiting, as he was the lead on many highly-regarded prospects who chose to attend Mizzou.

"We're really excited to have Barry and his family back at Mizzou," said Head Coach Gary Pinkel. "He's done an outstanding job at Memphis these past three years. He's coached with us before, and it's great to see someone professionally advance himself and go do such a great job elsewhere. I know he was sought after by several other power five schools recently, so we feel very fortunate to have him with us," Pinkel said.

"It goes without saying how excited I am to have this opportunity," said Odom. "I have such a deep respect for the success that Coach Pinkel and his staff have had since I've been away. Transitioning to a new conference is very challenging, and all they've done is get better at everything. When you look nationally at winning percentage, APR, graduation rates, Mizzou is the total package and it's absolutely one of the top football programs and athletic departments in the country. I'm excited to do my part to continue to add to that, and our family is excited to be part of it again," he said.

"It's always tough to leave a place that's been as good to me as Memphis has, and I can't thank Coach (Justin) Fuente enough for the opportunity he provided for me," said Odom. "Being a part of this building process for the last three years has made me a better coach, and I'm proud to know that it's in better shape now than what we came into," he said.

Odom, a native of Maysville, Okla. who graduated from Ada High School, was a four-year letterman at linebacker for Mizzou from 1996-99. He was a key player on MU squads that went to bowl games in 1997 and 1998, and he ended his career ranked 5th on the school's career tackles list, with 362 stops.

Odom graduated from MU in December of 1999, and served as a development intern for the Tiger Scholarship Fund, assisting with various fund raising projects for Tiger Athletics while earning his Master's in education from MU. He returned to his home state of Oklahoma in July of 2000 to serve as an assistant coach for Ada High School, which finished that season as runners-up for a state championship.

Odom returned to Columbia in the spring of 2001 as head coach of Rock Bridge High School, and he quickly built the Bruins into a power, as they went 6-4 and won a conference championship that fall. He followed with an 8-4 campaign in 2002 that saw Rock Bridge reach the semifinals of the state championship playoffs.

Born Nov. 26, 1976 in Lawton, Okla., Odom and his wife, Tritia, were married in July of 2000. Tritia is a native of Kahoka, Mo., and is a graduate of MU's College of Human Environmental Sciences. The couple has two sons - James Trump Odom and Garyt Robert.

Cornell Ford

Cornerbacks
15th Year at Mizzou
Gary, Ind.
Toledo, 1991

Cornell Ford is in his 21st season as a valuable member of Coach Gary Pinkel's staff, including his 15th at Mizzou working with the Tiger secondary. Since the 2004 season, Ford has coached the Tiger cornerbacks, after he focused on MU's outside safeties his first three years. Ford is also the Tigers' chief recruiter in St. Louis, where he has signed some of the very best players in the state who have been critical to Mizzou's success over the years.

Mizzou's defense was a key to its 2014 SEC Eastern Division title run, and the pass defense supplied by Ford's secondary played a big role. His corners contributed to a defense which ranked 2nd in the SEC in pass defense (185.8 yds/game) in league games. Led by sophomore Aarion Penton, who had three interceptions, Ford's corners accounted for 23 pass break ups combined, including a team-best 10 from Penton and nine from JUCO transfer Kenya Dennis in his first year with the Tigers.

Mizzou's secondary was one of the most impactful in the nation in 2013, as the Tigers led the SEC and ranked 5th nationally with 20 interceptions. Ford's corners tallied nine of those picks, including five by senior E.J. Gaines, who won 1st-Team All-SEC honors. Fellow senior Randy Ponder had a pair of interceptions, and freshmen Aarion Penton and John Gibson both grabbed one apiece, and gained valuable experience that bodes well for the future when Gaines was lost for two games to a leg injury sustained in a win at 7th-ranked Georgia in October.

Gaines became the highest drafted Mizzou cornerback since 1983 when he was selected in the sixth round of the 2014 NFL Draft by the St. Louis Rams.

In 2011, Ford oversaw the development of Gaines into one of the nation's top young cover men. Gaines set a Mizzou record with 16 pass break ups in his first year as a starter, and tied for 5th nationally with 18 passes defended overall (including 2 interceptions). Gaines had a solid junior season in 2012, when he made 74 tackles, and led the Tigers with 11 pass breakups.

Both of Ford's starting cornerbacks earned All-Big 12 status for three straight seasons (2008-10), including Carl Gettis and Kevin Rutland both in 2009 and 2010. The Tiger pass defense was a large reason for Mizzou's much-improved play in 2010, as MU led the Big 12 and ranked 6th nationally in scoring defense, allowing just 16.08 points per game. The Tigers also ranked 11th nationally in pass efficiency defense, with an opponent passer rating of 108.45.

Rutland's development earned him an invitation to the 2011 NFL Combine, and while he went undrafted, he was signed immediately by Jacksonville, and in the 2011 season made his first career NFL start for the Jaguars.

In 2009, Gettis and Rutland were named honorable mention all-league by league coaches for their play. Gettis ranked 6th on the team in 2009 with 61 tackles, and led the team with 5 pass break ups, to go with having a hand in 4 turnovers in his third year as a starter. Rutland, in his first year as a starter, developed into MU's top corner, as he won honorable-mention all-league status and was named the team's cornerback of the year for his season, which included 47 tackles and a team-high 2 interceptions.

Both of Ford's starting cornerbacks earned All-Big 12 mention in 2008, with senior Castine Bridges and sophomore Carl Gettis winning honorable mention all-league acclaim for their play on the Tigers' 10-4 squad. Gettis further established himself as one of the top young defensive backs in the Big 12 Conference as he ranked 5th on the Tiger squad with 78 tackles, 4 pass break ups and 1 interception. Bridges closed out his Tiger career with 69 tackles and 1 interception, plus a team-high 7 pass break ups.

Mizzou's cornerbacks turned in a solid 2007 season overall, and were a definite reason that the Tiger defense was one of the best in the Big 12 Conference. True freshman Carl Gettis blossomed under Ford's coaching, as he became a starter early in the year and eventually won 2nd-Team Freshman All-American honors for his play. Senior Darnell Terrell was invited to the NFL Combine in the off-season, and later signed a free-agent contract with the Cleveland Browns.

The Tiger secondary was instrumental in MU's defensive improvement in 2006, and Ford's cornerbacks were a big reason why. Led by junior Darnell Terrell, who earned honorable mention All-Big 12 honors from league coaches, the Tigers ranked 2nd in the Big 12 Conference, and 37th nationally, in pass defense, permitting 185.69 yards per game on average. That fact was even more impressive, considering that sophomore starting CB Domonique Johnson missed five games due to a knee injury midway through the season.

After losing his top performer from 2004 in Shirdonya Mitchell, Ford helped develop his cornerback unit into one that was dependable and steady in 2005. Mizzou ended the 2005 regular season ranking 4th in the Big 12 in pass defense, allowing an average of 212.55 yards per game.

Senior Marcus King blossomed into a big-play performer for the Tiger secondary in 2005, as he led the team with a career-high 13 passes broken up – including a record-breaking 99-yard interception return for a TD in the Independence Bowl win. King earned honorable mention All-Big 12 honors by both league coaches and media for his efforts, and he teamed with fellow senior A.J. Kincade to give the Tigers a dependable tandem. King later went on to earn a free agent contract with the NFL's Dallas Cowboys following the 2006 NFL Draft, and another Ford protégé, Calvin Washington, was invited to the rookie minicamp with Washington following the draft as well.

Just about every one of Ford's cornerbacks had career years under his coaching in 2004, and that performance was instrumental in Mizzou's substantial improvement in defense. Thanks in large part to his cornerbacks, Mizzou led the Big 12 Conference, and ranked 3rd nationally in pass defense in 2004, allowing an average of just 149.27 yards per game. His corners grabbed 8 of MU's 15 interceptions in 2004, which was a nice team improvement from a total of 9 in 2003 (including 3 from cornerbacks that year).

Senior Shirdonya Mitchell blossomed into a high-level cornerback in 2004 under Ford's direction, as he ranked 5th in the Big 12 Conference, and 33rd nationally, with his 4 interceptions. Mitchell earned honorable mention All-Big 12 honors for his play, in only his second year playing defense, and signed a two-year free agent deal with the Miami Dolphins following the 2005 NFL Draft. Juniors Marcus King and A.J. Kincade also had big years, as King tied for the team lead with four turnovers gained (2 interceptions and 2 fumbles) and led the team with 7 pass break ups, while Kincade had a career-high 2 interceptions, including a game-winning pickoff in overtime of the season finale at Iowa State.

In addition to his coaching duties, Ford has worked hard to earn a reputation as one of the most well-trusted recruiting presences in his area of St. Louis. His hard work and straightforward approach has paid off recently, as he has successfully attracted stars such as Will Franklin, Jeremy Maclin and 2008 signees Blaine Gabbert and Wes Kemp to Mizzou. In 2009, he landed Gateway Tech superstar Sheldon Richardson, who was one of the nation's top overall prospects, and this past February, MU signed a class which ranked 21st-best in the nation according to Rivals.com, and that was the highest ranking ever for a Tiger recruiting class. Ford was also successful in getting Missouri's foot in the door in other St. Louis schools where there hadn't been much Tiger success in recent years.

Ford spent five seasons at Toledo coaching the wide receivers. Toledo graduate Mel Long pulled in 175 receptions in his four-year career, 21 of those for touchdowns. He also held the longest active streak in NCAA Division I for consecutive games with a reception. Under Ford, Long became Toledo's all-time leading receiver.

Before Toledo, Ford coached at Marietta College where he coached the quarterbacks, running backs and receivers, while also serving as the team's strength and conditioning coach. Marietta led the conference in rushing offense in 1994 and 1995 and owned the league's top running back both seasons.

Prior to joining the Marietta staff, Ford served two seasons as a graduate assistant at Toledo. He helped with the offensive line in 1992 and the secondary in 1991.

Ford holds a bachelor's degree (1991) in physical education and a master's degree (1993) in sports administration from Toledo.

He and his wife, Dawn, are the parents of a son, Devin, and a daughter, Taylor.

Brian Jones

Running Backs
15th Year at Mizzou
Falmouth, Jamaica
Connecticut, 1980

Brian Jones has been a member of Gary Pinkel's coaching staff since 1992. He has coached an excellent running game for the last 20 seasons, after initially coaching wide receivers from 1992-94.

While Mizzou's spread offense has a reputation as a wide-open attack, Jones has helped produce a very productive run game which has resulted in 1,000-yard rushing seasons by Tiger tailbacks in seven of the last 10 years. Current senior TB Russell Hansbrough finished the 2014 season with 1,084 yards on the ground and he and Marcus Murphy combined to give the Tigers a dynamic 1-2 punch which combined for 2,008 yards, 14 touchdowns and an average of 5.3 yards a carry. Murphy was named 1st-team All-SEC all-purpose back in 2014.

Jones oversaw a potent trio of backs in 2013 that guided Mizzou to a national rank of 16th in rushing, averaging 237.4 yards per game. Jones' three-headed monster was led by junior Henry Josey, who was one of the top comeback stories in all of college football last year. After missing all of 2012 with a severe knee injury suffered late in the 2011 season, Josey returned last season to gain 1,166 yards and 16 touchdowns, averaging a salty 6.7 yards per carry. He became only the second running back in Mizzou history to achieve two 1,000-yard rushing seasons (Tony Temple is the other).

Giving the Tigers a great 2-3 punch were junior Marcus Murphy and sophomore Russell Hansbrough. Murphy gained 601 yards and ran for 9 TDs, while Hansbrough posted 685 yards and 4 scores of his own.

The 2012 season was more of the same, as senior Kendial Lawrence worked behind an offensive line wracked with injuries, but still managed to turn out a 1,025-yard and 12-touchdown season. Lawrence ranked 6th in the Southeastern Conference in rushing.

In 2011, Jones oversaw the transformation of the Tiger offensive attack into one of the nation's most balanced, as Mizzou was one of just two schools nationally to average at least 230 yards rushing and passing.

His tailbacks carried a big load in 2011, as the Tigers won the Big 12 Conference team rushing title, averaging a league-best 244.00 yards per game (ranking them 9th in the NCAA). Led by super sophomore Henry Josey, who ranked 2nd in the Big 12 (12th nationally), averaging 116.80 yards a game before ending his season early in game #10 against Texas. Despite his early end to the season, Josey earned unanimous 1st-Team All-Big 12 honors after beginning the year at No. 3 on the depth chart.

Jones and his troops also rose to the challenge in 2010, as a talented group of tailbacks combined in committee style to rush for over 1,500 yards and 19 touchdowns as the Tiger run game ranked sixth in the Big 12 overall, averaging 156.38 yards per game (2,033 yards all told on the season).

In 2008, Jones took a first-year starter with limited prior experience, in true sophomore Derrick Washington, and helped mold him into one of the Big 12 Conference's top running backs. Washington became only the eighth running back in Mizzou history to rush for 1,000 yards in a season, as he tallied 1,036 on 177 carries (5.9 avg.) in 2008. He added 17 rushing touchdowns in his first year as a starter, which was just one shy of the school single season record.

The 2009 season saw the Tiger run game contribute with 1,651 yards, of which 1,342 came from the trio of junior Derrick Washington, sophomore De'Vion Moore and true freshman Kendial Lawrence. Washington earned honorable mention All-Big 12 acclaim for his season, which included 865 rushing yards and 10 touchdowns, to go with 26 receptions out of the backfield.

Of the 10 Tiger running backs with 1,000-yard seasons, Jones has coached five of them in his time on the Mizzou sideline, including one each in three consecutive years, from 2006-08.

Jones helped develop Tony Temple into one of the top ball carriers in the Big 12 Conference in recent years, as the Kansas City, Mo., native ranked second in the league in rushing in 2006, with a career-high 1,063 yards and seven touchdowns, and followed with a 1,039-yard, 12-touchdown campaign in 2008, becoming the first running back in Mizzou history to claim multiple 1,000-yard seasons.

Temple closed his Tiger career in illustrious fashion, as he broke a 52-year old record by rushing for a Cotton Bowl-record 284 yards and four touchdowns in Mizzou's rout of Arkansas. The yardage total was also the second-most in the history of Division I-A bowl games.

With Mizzou's high-flying passing game getting most of the headlines, it's easy to overlook the fact that the Tigers also run the ball very well and very often. Mizzou ran for just under 2,500 yards in 2007 (2,467), and amassed 29 rushing touchdowns as well, providing a nice compliment to the air game. They followed with 2,153 yards and 28 rushing scores in 2008.

Temple earned honorable mention All-Big 12 status by league coaches in both 2006 and 2007. He also ran for 194 yards and two touchdowns in the 2006 Sun Bowl.

Despite their overall youth, and some injury problems for each one throughout the year, Jones' group made steady progress in 2005, and contributed heavily to MU's rushing attack, which ranked 3rd in the Big 12 Conference, and 17th in the NCAA, averaging 205.25 yards per game. Mizzou's tailbacks combined to rush for more than 1,100 yards and tallied 8 TDs in 2005, averaging a healthy 5.6 yards per carry. In May of 2006, Jones was one of only 25 coaches selected to participate in the prestigious NCAA Expert Coaches Academy.

Jones' backs rushed for over 1,200 yards and had 9 of MU's 13 rushing TDs on the season in 2004. They were led by junior Damien Nash, who had 792 yards and 7 TDs, and redshirt freshman Marcus Woods, who had 428 yards and 2 scores. Woods was named 1st-Team Freshman All-Big 12 for his efforts in 2004. Nash was a 5th-round draft pick by the Tennessee Titans in the 2005 NFL Draft.

Mizzou had one of the nation's most potent rushing attacks in 2003, as the Tigers pounded their way to 3,087 yards, good for a per-game average of 237.46 yards that ranked MU 1st in the Big 12 Conference and 6th in the NCAA statistics. It marked the first time since 1960 that MU won a conference rushing championship, when the Tigers led the old Big Eight with a mark of 249.3 yards per game. Missouri rushed for 38 touchdowns on the year, on the way to scoring a school single-season record 399 points.

Jones' workhorse from 2001-03 was tailback Zack Abron. Abron thrived under Jones' coaching and turned himself into one of the top backs in the Big 12 Conference. Abron rushed for a career-best 1,155 yards in 2003, making him only the 7th 1,000-yard rusher in MU history.

Abron set numerous career records in 2003, as he left MU holding the standard in rushing yards (3,198), touchdowns (42) and points (252). He improved his average yards per rush from 3.6 as a freshman in 2000 to a healthy 5.3 in 2003, and also worked with Jones to develop himself into a pass-catching threat out of the backfield. Abron was named 2nd-Team All-Big 12 in 2003 for his work, and went on to sign a free agent contract with the Atlanta Falcons following the 2004 Draft.

During Jones' last two seasons at Toledo, UT's running attack was ranked in the top-10 in the country. In 2000, the Rockets' running game ranked ninth in the country, racking up 253.8 yards per game. UT compiled 2,792 yards on the ground and averaged 5.43 yards per carry. In 1999, Toledo ranked 10th in the country in rushing, compiling 239.2 yards per outing and ranked No. 1 in the nation in yards per attempt (5.35).

In 1995, Toledo led the league and ranked fifth in the nation in rushing, averaging 244.5 yards per game. The Rockets' starting tailback that season, Wasean Tait was the named the MAC Player of the Year and garnered second team All-America honors ranking second in the nation in rushing and third in scoring.

Jones was an offensive lineman at the University of Connecticut, where he earned a Bachelor of Science degree in marketing in 1980. He also holds a Master of Science degree in administration and physical education from Norwich (1983).

Jones was born in Jamaica and raised in New York City. He and his wife, Mary Kay, are the parents of sons Grant and Brandon, and daughter Audrey. Grant was a member of Mizzou's 2014 recruiting class, and redshirted in 2014.

Craig Kuligowski

Defensive Line
15th Year at Mizzou
Southgate, Mich.
Toledo, 1991

Craig Kuligowski is in his 24th season alongside Gary Pinkel, including his 20th season coaching the defensive line. One of the more accomplished assistant coaches in the nation, Kuligowski has coached nine Tigers to 1st-Team All-Conference honors, including eight overall in the last eight seasons – Lorenzo Williams in 2007, followed by Ziggy Hood in 2008, Aldon Smith in 2010, Dominique Hamilton in 2011, Sheldon Richardson in 2012, Michael Sam and Kony Ealy in 2013, and Shane Ray in 2014.

Despite being a first-year starter, Ray, a junior defensive end, was one of the breakout stars of the SEC in 2014, as he was the unanimous SEC Defensive Player of the Year and a 1st-Team All-American after setting a school-record with 14.5 sacks, while adding 22.5 tackles for loss. He teamed with senior DE Markus Golden (20.0 TFLs, 10.0 sacks – 2nd-team All-SEC) to provide arguably the top end tandem in the country, while the middle of the line was quite stout too, as evidenced by sophomore DT Harold Brantley earning honorable mention all-SEC acclaim by the Associated Press.

Mizzou led the SEC in sacks (a school-record 44), and was the stingiest defense in the league, allowing a conference-low 300.8 yards per game in league games.

Sam was one of the more compelling stories of the 2013 season, as he rose from little pre-season fanfare to become one of the top rush ends in the nation. He led the SEC in both sacks (11.5) and tackles for loss (19.0) and became MU's first defensive 1st-Team All-American since former great Justin Smith in 2001. Sam was a finalist for the Nagurski, Lombardi and Hendricks awards.

Ealy also turned in an outstanding season which culminated with him winning 1st-Team All-SEC acclaim by the Associated Press.

Kuligowski's defensive line was arguably the most disruptive and deepest in the nation in 2013, as it was responsible for 39 of Mizzou's 41 season sacks (which led the SEC and ranked 12th nationally), while notching 73.5 of the team's 107 tackles for loss.

Reserve junior DE Markus Golden won honorable-mention All-SEC honors from the Associated Press for his play, while sophomore DE Shane Ray and junior DTs Matt Hoch and Lucas Vincent, combined with freshmen tackles Harold Brantley and Josh Augusta to give Mizzou high-impact capabilities every snap.

Sheldon Richardson developed into one of the top defensive tackles in the nation in 2012, and claimed 1st-Team All-SEC honors for his play, which included leading all SEC linemen in tackles (75). Richardson went on to become the 13th overall selection in the 2013 NFL Draft by the New York Jets, and he's a leading candidate for AFC Rookie of the Year thus far.

Hamilton was an anchor on the line for Mizzou in 2011, as he led all Big 12 interior linemen with his 56 tackles, and he also helped clinch a pair of dramatic wins at Texas A&M and against Texas Tech when he deflected passes to end each game.

The 2010 season saw Smith earn 1st-Team All-Big 12 honors despite missing three games with a broken leg early in the year. Following his sophomore season, Smith chose to bypass his final two years of eligibility and was a first-round draft pick in the 2011 NFL Draft by the San Francisco 49ers, where he blossomed into one the league's top defensive rookies in 2011. Smith amassed 19.5 sacks in 2012, and earned All-Pro acclaim while helping lead the 49ers to the Super Bowl.

Smith wasn't the only Kuligowski protégé to earn acclaim in 2010, as five linemen in all took home honors, including sophomore end Brad Madison (2nd-Team), junior end Jacquies Smith (Hon. Men.), and junior tackle Terrell Resonno (Hon. Men.)

Coach "Kool" debuted a star pupil in 2009 – redshirt freshman end Aldon Smith – who turned out to be one of the top freshmen in the entire nation. Smith was named the Big 12 Conference Defensive Freshman/Newcomer of the Year, in unanimous fashion, and he also earned 3rd-Team All-American honors, as well as 1st-Team Freshman All-American honors for his outstanding play in 2009.

Smith broke the MU single-season quarterback sacks record in 2009, with 11.5 to surpass the old mark of 11 set in 2000 by former All-American Justin Smith. Aldon Smith also had 19 tackles for loss in his first year on the field for Mizzou, and he led all of the nation's freshmen in both sacks and tackles for loss a year ago. Smith was joined by senior Jaron Baston (2nd-Team All-Big 12) in receiving all-conference honors in 2009.

Kuligowski's defensive line was stout against the run in 2009, as it helped the Tiger defense to a national ranking of 26th against the run (allowing 118.62 yards per game). The ranking and yards allowed were the lowest by any Mizzou defense against the run since the 1983 team ranked 5th in the country with an average of 97.70 yards per game.

Hood, and another star disciple, defensive end Stryker Sulak (who earned 2nd-Team All-Big 12 mention in both 2007 and 2008) were invited to participate in the 2009 NFL Combine, and both were eventually taken in the 2009 NFL Draft, with Hood going in the first round with the 32nd overall pick by the defending Super Bowl Champion Pittsburgh Steelers, with Sulak going in the 6th round to the Oakland Raiders. Sulak ended his career tied for second on Mizzou's quarterback sacks list, with 22.5, while Hood finished 10th with 15.5 for his career.

In 2007, Kuligowski coached all four of his starters on the Tiger defensive line to at least honorable mention All-Big 12 honors, including Lorenzo Williams, who claimed 1st-Team mention for his outstanding play.

The 2006 season also saw Kuligowski's pupils succeed at a high level, as he coached standout defensive ends Brian Smith, Xzavie Jackson and tackle Lorenzo Williams to All-Big 12 honors, with Smith earning 2nd-Team mention, while Jackson and Williams won their first-ever honorable mention acclaim.

Despite being hurt severely by injuries in 2006, the Tiger defensive line was a disruptive force early and often, as they amassed 28 combined sacks of MU's overall 36 sacks on the season which were the second-most in school history (41 sacks in 1982 is the MU record). Smith was a catalyst, as he broke MU's career sack record before breaking his hip in game eight against Kansas State. Jackson and Williams stepped up in Smith's absence, and rank on MU's alltime career top-10 in sacks.

Facing arguably the biggest rebuilding job at any position on the team in 2005, Kuligowski oversaw a defensive line that grew into a solid unit, despite losing three starters from 2004 to the NFL. Junior defensive end Brian Smith blossomed into an every-down player, and had a monster year, ranking among the best in the Big 12 Conference with 9 QB sacks, 17 tackles for loss and 12 QB hurries, to go along with his career-high total of 66 tackles. Smith earned 2nd-Team All-Big 12 accolades for his performance.

Kuligowski's line was a focal point for the Tiger defense in 2004, and a major reason for the overall improvement of the defense. Three of his pupils – tackles Atiyyah Ellison and C.J. Mosley, and end Brian Smith – earned various All-Big 12 honors for their play in 2004, with Ellison and Mosley pulling in 1st-Team distinction. Redshirt freshman Lorenzo Williams also earned 1st-Team Freshman All-Big 12 honors by The Sporting News.

Two of Kuligowski's protégés were drafted as part of the 2005 NFL Draft, as tackles Atiyyah Ellison (3rd round) and C.J. Mosley (6th round) were picked by the Carolina Panthers and Minnesota Vikings, respectively. Later, defensive end Zach Ville signed a free agent deal with the Kansas City Chiefs.

Under Kuligowski's leadership, the Tiger defensive line proved to be the strength of MU's defense in 2002. Led by senior tackle Keith Wright and senior end Antwaun Bynum, the Tiger front four was a constant disruptive force for opposing teams. Wright led the Big 12 Conference, and ranked in the top-10 nationally, with 23 tackles for loss in 2002, while Bynum ranked among conference leaders in sacks, fumbles forced and tackles for loss.

Bynum earned first team All-Big 12 honors in 2002, and was named an honorable mention All-American by CNNSI.com, while Wright was a first team All-Big 12 pick by various outlets. Wright's development led to him being a 6th-round selection by the Houston Texans in the 2003 NFL Draft.

Kuligowski was credited with building one of the top defensive lines in the MAC during his tenure at Toledo. In 2000, the Rockets were ranked fifth in the country in rushing defense, allowing just 81.5 yards per game and 2.46 yards per carry. They were ranked third in the country in scoring defense, third in total defense and No. 1 in turnover margin.

Kuligowski was a four-year standout at Toledo (1987-90) as an offensive tackle. He was named first team All-MAC two straight years and helped lead UT to the MAC title his senior year. He was an integral part of the 1990 offense that turned in totals of 135 rushing first downs, 2,474 rushing yards and 4,335 total yards, all top five marks in Toledo history.

Kuligowski earned a bachelor of business administration degree from Toledo in 1991. He and his wife Mary have two daughters: Peyton and Madeline, and son Max, who was born in March of 2005.

A.J. Ricker

Offensive Line
Second Year at Mizzou
Spring, Texas
Missouri, 2004

Former University of Missouri standout center A.J. Ricker came back to his alma mater as an assistant football coach in July of 2014. Ricker joined the staff as offensive line coach, after spending the prior season in the same role at the University of Illinois.

In his first year of guiding the Tiger offensive line, Ricker did well molding a young unit into one that improved over the course of the year and which played a key role in MU's late-season surge to claim the SEC Eastern Division title.

Despite having just one player return in the same spot he manned in 2013, Ricker's line paved the way for 5,138 yards of offense in a well-balanced attack that featured 2,648 passing yards and 2,490 rushing yards.

Senior LT Mitch Morse developed into a top-line performer under Ricker's watch, as Morse was honored as a 2nd-Team All-SEC player by league coaches – marking the first-ever conference recognition for Morse. Morse was invited to participate in the prestigious NFL Combine and is expected to be selected in the upcoming 2015 NFL Draft this spring.

The line overcame adversity in the early part of the year when senior starting left guard Anthony Gatti was lost for the year early in the first half of Mizzou's game with Indiana, and his loss forced a significant reshuffling of the line, which Ricker oversaw and his troops adapted to nicely.

Ricker came to Mizzou with eight years of coaching experience under his belt. He began his coaching resume as a graduate assistant at Western Michigan under former Mizzou assistant Bill Cubit, serving in that role for the 2006 and 2007 seasons, before advancing to a full-time assistant role as offensive line coach in 2008. He moved to St. Joseph's College (in Rensselaer, Ind.) as offensive line coach in 2009, and served the 2010 season as the program's head coach before later returning to WMU for the 2011 and 2012 seasons as the offensive line coach and run game coordinator.

Ricker was born in Windsor, Mo., and graduated from high school in Klein, Texas, before coming to Mizzou. He was a 1st-Team All-Big 12 center for Pinkel as a senior in 2003, as part of the first bowl-eligible team at MU since 1998. He started 47 consecutive games at center for the Tigers from 2000-03, which established a record at any position at MU at the time (it now stands 5th-all-time on the MU consecutive starts chart, 2nd among centers). He served as a two-time team captain at Mizzou.

Ricker earned his undergraduate degree from Mizzou in agriculture in 2004. Following his graduation, Ricker signed a free agent contract with the NFL's Chicago Bears and was allocated to the Rhein Fire of NFL Europe in 2005. In 2006, and for part of 2007, he was a member of the Arena Football League's Tampa Bay Storm before retiring from his playing days. In 2011, he was married to the former Lauren Mattaliano, and the couple has an infant son, Andrew, who was born in February of 2014.

Ryan Walters

Safeties
First Year at Mizzou
Los Angeles, Calif.
Colorado, 2008

Joining the Mizzou coaching staff for his first season is Ryan Walters, who was the first hire made by new defensive coordinator Barry Odom this past February.

Walters was brought aboard by Odom as safeties coach. Walters, 29, comes to Mizzou after spending the past season as cornerbacks coach at Memphis, where he worked with Odom. At Memphis, the pair oversaw a defense that was among the most improved in the nation. Memphis went 10-3 in 2014, thanks in large part to its defense which ranked fifth nationally in points allowed (17.1 ppg) and 22nd in total defense (343.3 ypg) in the regular season.

Walters, a Los Angeles, Calif. native, played collegiately at Colorado, where he was a standout safety for the Buffaloes (2004-08). He began his coaching career as a student assistant at Colorado working with the secondary in 2009, and then spent two years on staff at Arizona, where he was a graduate assistant in 2010, before being promoted to defensive backs coach for the 2011 season.

From there, Walters moved to the Oklahoma staff as a graduate assistant cornerbacks coach in 2012, as the Sooners went 10-3 and played in the 2013 Cotton Bowl. He moved to North Texas for the 2013 season, where he coached corners and helped lead UNT to a 9-4 record in its first year in Conference USA and a win in the 2013 Heart of Dallas Bowl. The Mean Green defense that season ranked fourth in the nation in turnovers gained (34), eighth in points allowed (17.8 ppg), 13th in interceptions (18) and 17th in total defense (348.3 ypg).

"I'm really pleased that we are able to attract someone of Ryan's caliber to join our team," said Defensive Coordinator/Linebackers Coach Barry Odom. "I've known him for a while now, and had the chance to work together last year and he made a big impression on me. He's a loyal and tireless worker who I see as a great technician and fundamentals coach. He was very sought after this past season, so we're excited to recruit him to Mizzou," he said.

Odom first met Walters as part of a trip the Mizzou coaching staff took to Arizona to share best practices in 2010, and recruited Walters on the staff at Memphis when he had an opening for the 2014 season.

"I'm excited to join a program as prestigious as Mizzou," said Walters. "Coach Pinkel and his staff have done a tremendous job over the years and I'm excited to learn their system and also to bring my perspectives in. I'm fired up to work with Barry Odom again, I think he's one of the best coaches I've been around, and it means a lot to me that he wants me in his defensive room. I'm excited to get to work and to help Mizzou continue to compete for championships," he said.

"We're looking forward to having Ryan join our staff, he is a really impressive young coach who has a well-respected reputation in the coaching industry," said Head Coach Gary Pinkel. "He's had proven success everywhere he's been and we believe he's going to do a great job with teaching and leading our safeties," he said.

As a player, Walters had a standout career at Colorado as a safety. He started in 33 games and played in 46 contests for the Buffaloes. He earned honorable mention All-Big 12 honors from the Associated Press and first-team All-Colorado honors from the state's National Football Foundation his senior year.

A team captain for the Buffaloes in 2008, Walters was also picked by his teammates the team's MVP. He had 87 tackles, two sacks, seven pass deflections, three fumble recoveries and two interceptions his senior year. His 20 career passes defended rate No. 15 in Colorado history and his 223 career tackles were No. 45 all-time.

During his playing time, the Buffaloes played in the Houston Bowl, Champ Sports Bowl and Independence Bowl.

Walters earned his degree in history from Colorado in December, 2008 with dual majors in History and Ethnic Studies. Walters and his wife Tara have a son, Aaron.

Pat Washington

Wide Receivers
Third Year at Mizzou
Mobile, Ala.
Auburn, 1987

Pat Washington, a long-time coach and former player in the Southeastern Conference, joined the University of Missouri football coaching staff in January of 2013 as the Tigers' new receivers coach.

He's provided a big impact for Mizzou's passing game, and did a masterful job in 2014 of molding a group of receivers who had previously been understudies into a high-output first line of producers.

Senior WR Bud Sasser stepped up big time in 2014 under Washington's coaching, as he was named 1st-team All-SEC for an oustanding season which included team-bests in receptions (77), receiving yards (1003) and receiving touchdowns (12). Sasser became Mizzou's first first-team all-conference wide receiver since 2009 (Danario Alexander).

Mizzou's wideouts enjoyed a banner year in 2013, and played a critical role as the Tigers became one of the most improved offensive attacks in the nation.

Leading the way was sophomore standout WR Dorial Green-Beckham, who earned 2nd-Team All-SEC honors by the Associated Press after catching 59 passes for 883 yards and 12 touchdowns – the latter of which tied for most in the SEC in 2013.

Washington's deep and talented group also featured game-breaking play from senior WR Marcus Lucas (58 catches, 692 yards, 3 touchdowns) and senior WR L'Damian Washington (50 catches, 893 yards, 10 touchdowns). His group's solid downfield blocking also helped spring the Tiger ground game for a 3,000-yard season and a national rushing ranking of 16th as part of MU's 12-2 campaign.

Washington, a 28-year collegiate coaching veteran, has 18 years of experience under his belt on four different SEC staffs, including an 11-year stint as wide receivers coach at Tennessee (1995-2005), which included an undefeated 1998 season and a national championship for the Volunteers.

Washington, 50, has also coached in the SEC at Mississippi State (2007-08) and Kentucky (2012), and he began his coaching career as a graduate assistant for two years (1987-88) at his alma mater, Auburn, where he was a successful starting quarterback for the Tigers previously.

Washington has enjoyed success all throughout his career, as he's coached on teams which have reached bowl games 18 times. Tennessee posted a sterling 105-31 record in his tenure there which featured 10 bowl appearances - including three Citrus Bowls, two Fiesta, Peach and Cotton Bowls, and one Orange Bowl. The Volunteers also reached the SEC Championship Game four times with Washington on staff. A win in the 1998 title game vaulted UT to the 1999 Fiesta Bowl, where the Vols downed Florida State, 23-16, to cap an undefeated season and a national championship.

During his tenure at Tennessee, Washington developed a line of standout receivers, including Peerless Price, Donte Stallworth, Joey Kent, Marcus Nash, Robert Meachem and Cedrick Wilson, among others. Nash, Stallworth and Meachem were National Football League first-round draft picks, and all six enjoyed NFL careers.

"We are very pleased to have someone of Pat's caliber and experience join our team," said Pinkel, who will enter his 13th year at Mizzou in 2013. "Pat knows the SEC very well, he's been a coach and player in the league for two decades in total, and the success he's had on the field and in developing players is very impressive," said Pinkel.

"I am really excited about the opportunity to join the family at Mizzou," said Washington. "I've admired their program over the years and the success that Coach Pinkel and his staff have had. The SEC is such a great conference, and I look forward to stepping in and helping move the program forward. I believe the receiving group here is a highly-talented group of young men. It's a group that can make a difference and help us win football games, and I'm eager to get to work with them and to help mentor them and develop them on and off the field into the best receiving group in the SEC," he said.

Washington's coaching career began at Auburn, where he served his alma mater as a graduate assistant coach from 1987-88. After the Tigers reached bowl games both years, Washington landed his first full-time position in the industry, as the receivers coach at Louisiana-Lafayette (1989-91), and that was followed by a two-year stop at TCU (1992-93) as receivers coach. He spent one year at Baylor (1994) as running backs coach, and the Bears reached the 1994 Alamo Bowl during his time there, before he left to join Tennessee the next year.

Following his time at UT, Washington coached receivers at Kansas State in 2006, helping the Wildcats to a berth in the Texas Bowl. Two of his wideouts, Jordy Nelson and Yamon Figurs, went on to play in the NFL.

Washington returned to the SEC next, as the receivers coach at Mississippi State from 2007-08. The Bulldogs broke a six-year postseason drought during his time there, as MSU won the 2007 AutoZone Liberty Bowl. From 2009-11, Washington coached running backs at Southern Mississippi, and his backfield played an integral role in Southern Miss' Conference USA Championship in 2011. He spent the 2012 season at Kentucky as wide receivers coach and passing game coordinator.

A native of Mobile, Ala., Washington played quarterback at Auburn from 1982-85, with the Tigers reaching bowl games all four years. He was the starter his final two seasons, and guided Auburn to a combined 17-8 record in those years and to 1984 Liberty Bowl and 1986 Cotton Bowl appearances. His backfield mate, Bo Jackson, won the Heisman Trophy in 1985. Washington, who earned a management degree from Auburn in 1987, and his wife, Claudette, are the parents of sons Tyson and Justin.

Nick Otterbacher

Director of Football Recruiting
12th Year at Mizzou
Tampa, Fla.
Toledo, 2002

In his 12th year as part of the Tiger coaching staff – and eighth in his title of director of football recruiting – is Nick Otterbacher. He assumed those duties after serving as an offensive graduate assistant coach for the 2006 season, when he helped coach a Tiger offense that broke numerous school records and ranked eighth in the nation in total offense (425.62 yards per game).

In his current role, Otterbacher oversees organizational efforts of virtually all aspects of MU's extensive recruiting program operations, such as coordinating on-and-off campus visits, mailings and other logistical arrangements. Mizzou's 2010 recruiting class was ranked 21st-best in the nation according to Rivals.com, which marked the highest-ever ranking for a Tiger class of recruits. The 2012 class was ranked as high as No. 20 by ESPN.com, and featured the nation's No. 1 overall prospect in Dorial Green-Beckham from Springfield, Mo.

Otterbacher served as an offensive graduate assistant coach for the 2005 and 2006 seasons, after serving on staff as an administrative graduate assistant in 2004.

A native of Tampa, Fla., Otterbacher was a four-year starter at center for the University of Toledo, where he played under Tiger Head Coach Gary Pinkel through the 2000 season. In his four-year playing career, Otterbacher was part of Toledo teams that went a combined 34-13 from 1998-2001, and won or shared three Mid-American Athletic Conference championships, while playing in the Motor City Bowl in 2001.

After graduating from Toledo with a degree in business management in May of 2002, Otterbacher got his start in coaching at Duquesne University, where he served as the tight ends and assistant offensive line coach for the 2002 season which saw Duquesne post an 11-1 record and claim the Metro Atlantic Conference championship.

He then went to West Virginia Tech as an assistant coach, and was the offensive line coach and run game coordinator and recruiting coordinator for the 2003 season, prior to joining the Mizzou staff in July of 2004.

He and his wife, Jessica, have a daughter, Reagan, and a son, Kaine Charles Cotton Otterbacher, who was born in Dallas, Texas, the week of MU's 2008 Cotton Bowl victory over Arkansas.

Dan Hopkins

Director of Football Operations
Ninth Year at Mizzou
Harrisonville, Mo.
Missouri, 2004

Dan Hopkins, a 2004 University of Missouri graduate, is in his seventh season as Director of Football Operations, after being promoted to that post prior to the 2009 season. Previously, he spent two years as the Tiger Football staff's administrative graduate assistant.

In his current role, Hopkins is involved in a wide variety of important administrative duties that involve the Tiger program.

Some of his many duties include overseeing the coordination of the team's travel plans, oversight of the football budget, handling compliance issues, scheduling of facilities, assisting with recruiting operations and managing the day-to-day overall operations for the football program. He was also a lead figure in planning and executing the Tigers' trips for the 2009 Texas Bowl, the 2010 Insight Bowl the 2011 Independence Bowl and most recently to the 2014 AT&T Cotton Bowl Classic in Dallas, Texas.

Hopkins also is responsible for coordinating all public relations activities and community service events that require the presence of football student-athletes.

The Harrisonville, Mo. native made a return to his alma mater prior to the 2007 season as a graduate assistant coach, where he assisted the Tiger coaching staff with various recruiting administrative duties throughout the year, as well as lending a hand with scouting and game preparation efforts during the season.

A 2004 graduate of the Missouri School of Journalism, Hopkins served as a student assistant coach for the Mizzou Football team for the 2003 and 2004 seasons. Following his graduation, he served as quarterbacks and wide receivers coach at William Jewell College for two seasons, before moving to Central Missouri State University, where he was the defensive graduate assistant coach for the 2006 season.

Hopkins and his wife, Kari, were married in 2013.

Kathryn Lucchesi

Director of Football Multimedia
Seventh Year at Mizzou
Springfield, Ill.
Missouri, 2009

Kathryn Lucchesi is in her seventh football season overall, and her fifth at a specially created position - Director of Football Multimedia. She took up this new title after spending two very successful seasons as the program's Multimedia Graduate Assistant, where she helped increase the reach and profile of Mizzou Football in various online and social media platforms.

You can usually find Lucchesi on the sideline of football games and practices shooting highlights. She shoots and edits numerous videos and photos for the team's popluar web site and blog, WeAreMizzou.com. She also assists the Tiger coaching staff with various recruiting duties throughout the year.

A graduate of the Missouri School of Journalism, with an emphasis in Broadcasting, Lucchesi joined the Mizzou staff in the fall of 2009 as a graduate assistant, where she helped the program grow in the social media world.

Before working with the athletic department, Lucchesi was a reporter and anchor at KOMU-TV8 in Columbia. She began as a news reporter, but focused her stories on sports during her last year at the television station, and she contributed heavily to the This Week In Mizzou Football television show throughout the season.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS RANKINGS

Beginning in 1936, the Associated Press polled a group of broadcasters and sports writers from around the nation, asking them to rank the various college football teams. Although other polls have come and gone, the AP's is the only one that has run in the nation's newspapers every year since 1936.

From this point forward, AP rankings for Missouri and its opponents are listed. A number in parenthesis appearing before an opponent's name indicates Missouri's ranking. A number in parenthesis appearing after an opponent's name is its ranking. "R" indicates a team was receiving votes.
